- The color schemes of the second mockup is more poppy then the first one
- The font looks good on the first one
- For the line on the first image don't make it overlap with the image
- The line on the history section is fantastic
- Mockup B with the three-column structure creates a bit too much negative space
- The two-column grid structure works better
- In terms of buttons under each section, mockup B works better as it doesn't have extra text to say what the button is doing rather it expands.
- For the navigation bar, is kind of plain at the moment, maybe try adding either icon or more rectangular button to it.
- In terms of the dotted line on the home page it looks really good, however if it is difficult to develop it can be omitted.
